Today: President Phyo-2018 Budget Presentation

President's Remarks

One of the attributes of a vibrant club is participation of the membership in the business of running the club. The idea is to achieve transparency and a bidirectional information flow between the club at large and its Board.

With July being a very busy month for the Board as we close out the prior year and chart out the path for the new year, we are having a double dose of Club Forum.

Last week we discussed where we are at, with an in-depth review of club financials and the pattern of revenues and donations made. This week we will look forward, and discuss our budget for the year ahead, and more importantly, the vision of how we will execute the Director's portfolios. Karen Selick, Director for Public Relations and Literacy will present ideas on how we will keep the news of the club in the forefront of the community, and how we might help the children of our community achieve a higher literacy level.

David Smith, Director for International Projects and Rotary International will share with us ideas on how we might make reliable and responsible contributions to international causes, collaborating with other Rotary clubs around the world.

Parker Gallant, Director for membership will discuss ideas in how we might keep our membership vibrant, and how to expand the club's reach without compromising all the good qualities of our current club culture.

These are all very relevant and interesting topics for our club, so come this Tuesday and enjoy your breakfast while collaborating openly with fellow club members.
