For 90 years, Rotary has been promoting world peace and understanding, one youth at a time. Since 1929, Rotary clubs have send secondary school youth around the globe to experience new cultures. Each year, about 9,000 teens participate in a Rotary exchange among 100 countries. Youth, ages 15-19, can apply for year-long academic exchanges during which they typically stay with three families. Or, students can opt for short-term exchanges which are offered during summer months

Youth Service is one of Rotary's Five Avenues of Service. Youth Exchange is one of many youth leadership development programs offered by Rotary. Living in a foreign country is a powerful way to gain global understanding and promote peace. Through Youth Exchange, students learn a new language, discover different cultures and customs, and make friendships that last a lifetime. The objectives of the Rotary Youth Exchange program include instilling international understanding and goodwill; creating positive change by empowering youth; and making lasting connections for host clubs, host families, communities, and the students.

Rotary districts administer the Youth Exchange program in collaboration with local Rotary clubs. Unlike many exchange programs, Rotary Youth Exchange is managed by volunteers, resulting in relatively low administrative costs and a strong support network of engaged Rotarians. Rotary's youth protection policies and district Youth Exchange certification program ensure that the safety of our youth is the highest priority.

Super Bulb swoops in

President-Elect Doug Eckland, aka Super Bulb, last week launched the annual flower sale and reminded members of deadlines. This is a key club fundraiser and the goal is for each member to sell $450 worth of orders.

Lloyd delivers, without fanfare

Lloyd Coogan was honored (again) as a Paul Harris Fellow for his immediate and unselfish response to a disabled woman who needed a new driveway. Lloyd, who owns a construction company, donated the gravel and paid an employee to assure that the surface was compacted properly to accommodate the woman's wheelchair. Paul Harris was a main founder of Rotary and members recognized in his name have earned thousand-point levels through donations and deeds.
