JD Interact packs it in

Interact youth at Juneau-Douglas High School: Yadaa.at Kale' packed 55 bags of gloves, hats, socks, toothbrushes and snacks collected by JGR for distribution to Glory Hall patrons. JGR member Kim Champney is the Interact advisor.

Human services unified campus planned on Teal

A SE Community Services Center is planned near St. Vincent's Smith Hall on Teal Street. The building will include a shelter, meal center, care services, and offices for United Way, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, SE Alaska Independent Living (SAIL), NAMI, Alaska Legal Services and the Disability Law Center. It will be operated by United Human Services non-profit, headed by Joan O'Keefe (left) who's managed SAIL two decades. The shelter will be managed by Mariya Lovishchuk (top), Glory Hall director for ten years.
