

We are Tall Tales Ranch, a Colorado 501(c)3 nonprofit addressing a growing resource and housing crisis by building a vibrant, supportive community of opportunity that honors every single person's gifts, desire and ability to contribute and grow. Our heart and our inspiration are the young adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD) that we serve - young people living with autism, Down syndrome and other disabilities. And like them, we are unapologetically different. In our unique model, neurodiversity is the thing that brings us together, because it's our differences that make us stronger and the world a better place for all.

Click HERE to see our future home in south metro Denver, Colorado. Our community barn, coffee shop, orchard and gardens will offer a hub of opportunity for several residents and thousands of others who will find resources, vocational training, income earning potential, enriching experiences, growth and fellowship at Tall Tales Ranch.

Learn more and be part of our journey at www.talltalesranch.org