What to Expect:

The adversity caused by the financial downturn, racial unrest, Covid-19, and the political climate seem insurmountable at times. How do you deal with adversity? Mary will share her personal experience with hardship and its impact on her business career and personal life. We will explore the lessons that have helped her to keep climbing those mountains as they arise. You'll come away with some action steps that, instead of running away, will help you to embrace adversity and use it to improve your life experience and become a better person!
